Baron Hardschickley an American.

Paris, August 10.—The final results of the elections for council generally show 1012 republicans elected and 406 reactionaries, gain 300 for the republicans. Baron Hardschickley, the expelled editor of the anti-republican paper, Le Tribune, who writes under the name of "Saint Patrice," is a native of the United States, whose ancestors emigrated from Ireland in the beginning of the present century. The reactionary papers warmly protest against his expulsion, on the grounds that he has long resided in France and made a very generous use of his large fortune.

BIG FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Barges, Schooners, Ships and Tugs Ablaze.

Ten Acres of Flames.

A Scene of Indescribable Grandeur.

Several Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth of Lumber Destroyed.

Loss Half a Million of Dollars.

The Flames Among the Shipping Interests.

New York, August 10.—This morning the hull of the burning vessel Nielaux, still ablaze, floated against a pier occupied by the American export lumber company, at Hunter's Point, the premises being occupied by the company which also occupies both sides of Newtown creek. At the time the Nielaux came in contact with the pier they were unloading a large number of vessels. The fire immediately communicated to a lumber yard and spread in every direction with lightning rapidity. From the lumber yard the fire spread to the vessels, and notwithstanding the efforts made by several tugs which hastened to their assistance, six barges, one schooner and one ship were soon in flames. Over ten acres of fire are now raging wildly and it appears to be beyond the control of the firemen. Several burning vessels were towed into the river and have drifted with the tide toward Blackwell's Island enveloped in a sheet of flames. The fire is spreading in every direction and no estimate can be formed as to its probable extent. The scene from the river is one of indescribable grandeur, the flames rising in every direction and devouring every thing in their path.

The Railway Accident on the Tweed.

Berwick Upon Tweed, August 10.—A later dispatch from the scene of the railroad accident says the axle of the engine broke and threw the train off the track, but the train did not go over the embankment. The engineer and brakemen were killed, fireman severely injured, and some other employees and a few passengers slightly hurt.

Charlie Ross and Satilla selling in the field and in the pools ran a dead heat for second place. Lady Middleton and Charlie Gorham were the favorites in the pools. Giraffe won the mile and a quarter race, Glidella, favorite, second, Cinderella third. Time, 2:14.

The Veterans Assembling at Columbus.

Columbus, August 10.—The reunion opened to-day in reality and for the next three days the Capital city of Ohio will be devoted to reception and entertainment of the veteran guests and visiting strangers. The opening salute of 38 guns announced the grand event this morning. Later the revilla of bugles and drum corps were heard. Many strangers arrived in the city yesterday, but the rush commenced in earnest to-day. There are arriving excursion trains from all directions, containing thousands of people. The streets are literally covered with masses of people. Decorating continues to-day and High street never before presented such an elaborate display of bunting, flags and evergreens. Cross streamers with appropriate mottoes are numerous. The first cross streamer greeting the eyes of the visiting veterans coming from the depot bears the inscription, "Welcome Comrades," the other side of which is dressed in black "In honor of the dead." Following are samples of the mottoes and streamers across High street: "If any man pulls down the flag, shoot him on the spot!" "No north, no south, one country!" "Grab a root!" "Johnny comes marching home!" "Hard tack!" Rain began to fall at one o'clock.

A man named Langhor was driving a team attached to a sulky plow up Calhoun street this forenoon, when just about to cross the South Calhoun railway crossing in front of an approaching train, one of the prongs of the plow fell and caught in the planking and checked the team.

When the man saw the train approaching and no means of removing the plow, he became excited and in his efforts to unlatch the horses they became frightened and ran off, leaving the plow to its fate. The watchman at the crossing flagged the engine, which was stopped just as the cow-catcher struck the plow, but without doing serious damage.

DR. TANNER has conclusively demonstrated how to run a cheap boarding house.

CHICAGO has added another feather to her cap. An actual count shows that in the matter of theatres she has three to one over St. Louis.

CONKLING, although in New York, and at the same hotel with GARFIELD, refused to call on DR. GOLYER.

How do respectable republicans like to see a man like ORTH swinging round the circle with their candidate for President? "Birds of a feather," you know.

The death of Ex-governor William Bigler, of Pennsylvania, at his home in Clearfield yesterday morning, will cast a gloom throughout the length and breadth of the Keystone state. He was one of her most highly respected citizens, and was a democrat in whom there was no guile.

OSMAHA, Neb., Aug. 8.—On August 5th, M. W. WALSH and JOHN WILEY, well-to-do farmers near Aurora, Nebraska, had a slight altercation about some matter concerning their harvesting. Next day WILEY received the following:

Mr. WILEY: I challenge you to a duel, and you name the place; I reserve choice of weapons. Yours, M. W. WALSH. Please send answer by bearer.

Of course Mr. WALSH will choose rifles for each, a barricade for himself, and a stand out in the open prairie for WILEY at any distance under the latitude the challenge allows for choosing the place. These are about the terms republicans offer democrats in the presidential duel, subject to the slight exception of claiming all the arms and the barricade for themselves—and as Nebraska always votes the republican ticket and is wholly given over to republican methods, we predict that if these men fight at all it will be only upon these or equivalent terms.

The Best I Ever Knew Of.
J. G. Starkey, a prominent and influential citizen of Iowa City, says: "I have had dyspepsia and liver complaint for several years, and have used every remedy I could hear of, without any relief whatever, until I saw your Shiloh's Vitalizer advertised in our paper, and was persuaded to try it. I am happy to state that it has entirely cured me. It is certainly the best remedy I ever knew of." Price 75 cents. For sale by Dreier & Roe.

GARFIELD AND ALEXANDER HAMILTON.
To democrats, the name of ALEXANDER HAMILTON has ever had peculiar, if not sinister significance. His brilliant career, first, as the boy statesman of Columbia college, next as a military aid and favorite of WASHINGTON, and then as statesman and lawyer, and his tragic death by the hand of the infamous AARON BURN, have made the life of HAMILTON a marked one in American history. Not a native of the American continent, but born of British blood, and on a British West India island, he ever had a British heart and never became thoroughly American either in his affections or his principles. In late years of his life, he could even say of himself, "every day proves to me more and more, that this American world was not made for me."

The political and personal hostility of HAMILTON to JEFFERSON is not unknown. They represented two distinctly different ideas of American government and policy. During the organization of the government under the constitution, HAMILTON was the inspiring mind and leader of the federal or strong government party, while JEFFERSON was the founder and leader of the democratic party. Politicians who distrust the people, but believe in the nation (which GARFIELD in a late speech says, "should be spelled with a very big initial letter") and who, rather than surrender their idea of a strong government and nation, would prefer a monarchy, (constitutional in form perhaps, but not the less a monarchy) will accept HAMILTON as their political teacher and guide. On the contrary, men who believe in the people, and a people's government in and through republican states, as the constitution united them, and defined the powers both of general and state government, will honor the name and teachings of JEFFERSON. The line between the political theories and systems of the two men is so clearly marked as not to be mistaken. "The nation," whereof the government is strong and the people are subjects, expresses the HAMILTONIAN idea; and "the people of the United States," wherein the people are rulers and not subjects, except as they impose law upon themselves, expresses the JEFFERSONIAN idea; and by the ultimate triumph of one or the other, the imperial or the democratic idea, will the American republic of the United States stand or fall. For our part, we are, as we believe the democratic party to be, as well in name as in affection and purpose on the side of the people. For their sake we oppose the empire and favor the republic.

In the SENTINEL of Saturday, we briefly noticed the effort of HAMILTON in 1800, to defeat JEFFERSON for the presidency, by what may be properly called a dishonest politician's trick. It was no less than a plan to change, on the eve of a presidential election, the mode of choosing presidential electors in the state of New York, so that in the face of a popular majority in favor of Mr. JEFFERSON, the electoral vote of New York should be cast against him. This dishonest "measure for political purposes," proposed by HAMILTON to Gov. JOHN JAY, was rejected by that honest magistrate, and therefore failed, and JEFFERSON became President by election over AARON BURN, by the house of representatives. From that time the power of the federal party waned and passed away, until it was revived by the passions engendered in the slavery agitation which led to LINCOLN's election in 1860. These passions broke into fury with that event, and the war of five years which followed demonstrated the strength of a consolidated federal power. In the hands of ambitious and able republican leaders, it became a gigantic force, and they grew enamored with it, and are loth to let it go—and to-day the principles inherited from HAMILTON vitalize and control the republican party.

In what we said in regard to the republican conference in New York last week and of the intent of that party to secure the electoral vote of New York in 1880 for GARFIELD by following the plan of HAMILTON in 1800, we merely reasoned from history and probabilities and did not speak in any spirit of prophecy. The New York republicans may, or may not, attempt to gain the vote of that state by a revolutionary scheme, (not the less revolutionary because within the letter of the constitution,) but if they do make the attempt, it will only verify the saying "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." The republican party has enough to do in this campaign to defend itself as the author and apologist of the electoral fraud of 1876, without attempting another in 1880.

Our reminder of HAMILTON's discreditable scheme of 1800, was not untimely nor inapt, in view of the high eulogy which Gen. GARFIELD, in his speech to "the boys in blue," in New York on Friday last, went out of his way to pay to him. Whether GARFIELD had them in mind, and was approving HAMILTON's plan for stealing the electoral vote of New York from JEFFERSON, we are not prepared to say, but as, defining GARFIELD's idea of what constitutes "union and glory" in the American government, it is significant. Hear him:

This is New York, and yonder, toward the battery, more than 100 years ago, a young student of Columbia college was giving the ideas of the American revolution to a group of men, who were then the college president and professors. By-and-by he went into the parlor army; was placed on the staff of WASHINGTON (Cheese), and while in camp, before he was twenty-one years old, upon a drum head, he wrote a letter which contained every germ of the constitution of the United States. (Applause.) That student, soldier, statesman and great leader of thought, ALEXANDER HAMILTON, of New York, made this republic glorious by his thinking, and left his lasting impression upon New York, the foremost state of the union, (Applause,) and here on this island, the scene of his early triumphs, we gather tonight, soldiers of a new war, representing the same ideas of union and glory, and adding to the columns of that monument that HAMILTON and WASHINGTON and the heroes of the revolution reared.

Mark well this speech. It was no mere sudden flight of rhetoric, but made for a purpose on an important occasion to a vast audience, by the chosen leader of republican thought and policy in 1880. Mark the words "Soldiers of a new war representing the same ideas of union and glory." Note the collection of names, "HAMILTON and WASHINGTON,"—WASHINGTON, the American, "the father of his country," ever "first in the hearts of his countrymen," given the second place to HAMILTON, the Briton, the father of the federal party!

In view of GARFIELD's enthusiastic praise of HAMILTON, we venture to ask, are "the boys in blue" who heard and applauded him, the kind of soldiers HAMILTON liked, when he said: "Let officers be men of sense and sentiment, and the nearer the soldiers approach to machines perhaps the better?" We surmise that GARFIELD's "Boys in Blue," and "Soldiers of a new war" are not altogether the same who fought under HANCOCK at Gettysburg in 1863, and under McCLELLAN at Antietam in 1862, for the union and constitution, and who will vote for HANCOCK and the union and constitution in 1880, rather than for GARFIELD and the "union and glory" of ALEXANDER HAMILTON's imagination.

France submitted to an imperial despotism and to wars which devastated Europe for years, shouting France, the empire and glory; and in the midst of her misery and servitude a big letter "N" could be seen on every public edifice in France signifying the Empire and Glory. Let us beware of a big letter N!

JEFFERSON called HAMILTON "the evil genius of America," and GEORGE MASON, as sterling a patriot as JEFFERSON, said of HAMILTON that he did the country more harm than "Great Britain, with all her fleets and armies." Be that as it may, it is significant that Gen. GARFIELD selects ALEXANDER HAMILTON as his model and teacher of American statesmanship.

CAUSE OF THE DECLINE OF REPUBLICAN ASCENDENCY.

A few years ago, and that since the close of the war, there was but a single democrat in the senate, while the house of representatives was overwhelmingly republican. In addition to this, there was then and has been ever since a republican president. The republican ascendancy seemed to be perpetually assured. Now, however, there are democratic majorities in both branches of congress, and a republican President occupies the executive chair only by a successful piece of chicanery that defeated the will of a quarter of a million of votes. How this chicanery was made effective is not now worth enquiring into, further than to say that it was acquiesced in by the democratic majority as a less evil than the alternative of a civil war.

There must have been some powerful causes to produce such a change as this, amounting practically to a revolution in the government. Clearly they could not have come of themselves, and many causes have co-operated to produce them. We despair of being able to make a complete summary of them, and its formidable length would keep it from being read if made. We therefore confine ourselves to a few only of the most obvious ones, viz:

A republican vice-president together with many leading republicans in both houses of congress are known to have been guilty of corrupt practices in the Credit Mobilier, and the District of Columbia matters; the "whisky thieves," among whom was the President's private secretary, when sought to be prosecuted and punished at the instance of a republican secretary of the treasury, were found to be so contumacious by the President and influential members of the party, both in and out of congress, that the efforts at prosecution were paralyzed, and thereby made comparatively fruitless; both the secretary and his district attorney had to lay down their offices as the penalty for having been too vigorous in the prosecution. Encouraged by this open protection of wrong doers, and the displeasure manifested in high places toward those who sought to bring offenders to justice, we next find a member of the cabinet selling his hands with the traffic in post-tradings. A slight effort was made by Mr. Hayes to check this tide of corruption in office by attempting to remove Mr. ARTHUR from the collectorship of the port of New York for alleged malfeasance in office, and to the end that the office might be "honestly administered," but the collector simply snapped his fingers at Mr. HAYES and told him that he proposed to hold on, and the republican party has rewarded both his misdeeds and his recusancy by nominating him for vice president on the ticket with GARFIELD, who is himself a possible convict on his own confession, for the grave offence of corruption in office, under sections 1,781 and 1,782 of the revised statutes of the United States. All these things, together with many others like them, are matters of record, as having been practiced under republican administration. It is idle to try to dispute them by the charge that they are trumped up by democrats for political effect.

Beyond this it seems needless to go in enumerating the causes that have led to the decline of republican ascendancy in the government. They owe their last four years hold on the administration solely to the mistaken forbearance of the democracy—but the time has come and they must now go.

TEXTS FOR PATRIOTS.

Quotable Sentences From Gen. Hancock's State Papers.
Public office is a trust, not a bounty bestowed upon the holder.

The bayonet is not a fit instrument for collecting the votes of freemen.

The great principles of American liberty still are the lawful inheritance of this people, and ever should be.

Power may destroy the forms, but not the principles of justice; these will live in spite even of the sword. It is a vital principle in our system that neither fraud nor force must be allowed to subvert the rights of the people.

The army should have nothing to do with the selection or inauguration of Presidents. The people elect the President.

I would under no circumstances allow myself or my troops to determine who were the lawful members of a state legislature.

The regular army should be so directed by its superior officers as to be recognized as a bulwark in support of the rights of the people and of the law.

Woe to us whenever it shall come to pass that the power of the magistrate—civil or military—is permitted to deal with the mere opinions or feelings of the people.

No form of government, however carefully devised, no principles, however sound, will protect the rights of the people unless the administration is faithful and efficient.

The right of trial by jury, the habeas corpus, the liberty of the press, the freedom of speech, the natural rights of persons and the rights of property, must be preserved.

The people elect the President. The congress declare who he is. We of the army have only to obey its mandates and are protected in so doing only so far as they may be lawful.

The army has been used unlawfully at times in the judgment of the people, and we have lost a great deal of the kindly feeling which the community at large once felt for us. It is time to stop.

It is only by a full vote, free ballot and fair count that the people can rule in fact, as required by the theory of our government. Take this foundation away and the whole structure falls.

The union, comprising a general government with general powers and state governments with state powers for purposes local to the state, is the union our fathers made and which has been respected abroad and is beneficial at home.

If called to the Presidency, I should deem it my duty to resist, with all my power, any attempt to impair or evade the full force and effect of the constitution, which, in every article, section and amendment, is the supreme law of the land.

The true and proper use of the military power, besides defending the national honor against foreign nations, is to uphold the laws and civil government and to secure to every person residing among us the enjoyment of life, liberty and property.

In war it is indispensable to repel force with force and overthrow and destroy opposition, to lawful authority. But when the insurrectionary forces have been overthrown and peace established, and the civil authorities are ready and willing to perform their duties, the military should cease to lead, and the civil administration resume its natural and rightful dominion.

I like Jefferson's way of inauguration. It suits our system. He rode alone on horseback to the capitol, tied his horse to a rail fence, entered and was duly sworn, then rode to the executive mansion and took possession. He inaugurated himself simply by taking the oath of office. There is no other legal inauguration in our system. It does not provide that one president should inaugurate another. There might be danger in that and it was studiously left out of the charter.

QUI VIVE.

Premontions of Autumn.
(Nathaniel Hawthorne.)

There is no other sound except the song of the cricket, which is but an audible stillness; for though it is very loud, and heard afar, yet the mind does not take note of it as a sound, so entirely does it mingle and lose individuality among the characteristics of coming autumn. Alas for the summer! The grass is still verdant on the hills and in the valleys, the foliage of the trees is as dense as ever, and as green; the flowers are abundant along the margin of the river, and on the hedgerows, and deep among the woods; the days, too, are as fervid as they were a month ago, and yet, in every breath of wind and in every beam of sunshine there is an autumnal influence. I know not how to describe it. Methinks there is a sort of coolness amid all the heat, and a mildness in the brightness of the sunshine. A breeze cannot stir without thrilling me with the breath of autumn, and I behold its pensive glory in the far golden gleams among the shadows of the trees. The flowers, even the brightest of them—the golden rods and gorgeous cardinals—the most glories of the year—have their gentle sadness amid their pomp. Pensive autumn is expressed in the glow of every one of them. I have felt this influence earlier some years than in others. Sometimes autumn may be perceived in the early days of July. There is no other feeling like that caused by this faint, doubtful, yet real perception, or rather prophecy, of this year's decay, as deliciously sweet and sad at the same time.

The Precious Mangers and Their Great Railroad Manager and Chief.

On Friday, August 13th, Sells Brothers' Millionaire Confederation of Stupendous Railroad Shows, will exhibit in all its vast entirety, at Fort Wayne, and we have ample warrant for stating that the occasion will be the most remarkable, wonderful and enjoyable in the amusement history of this section. The electric light, the largest herd of elephants; the only pair of living hippopotami; the only drove of performing Colorado cattle; the only huge living two-horned rhinoceros, and the only arctic aquarium of twenty monster sea lions, polar elephants, amphibious leopards and Siberian seals, are distinctive features of rare interest while the general collection of wild beasts and birds is immense and unequally comprehensive. The circus programme presents the names of a host of eminent principal performers, with none but bareback riders in the ring, led by the great and only James Robinson, whose unchallenged superiority over all rivals is so universally conceded as to preclude further comment. An arctic feature of most thrilling novelty, is the introduction of a number of Ute chiefs and braves, who appear in an equestrian drama, illustrating the savage scenes and single combats of border warfare.

The great show is run on high points all around. It is managed in person by its popular and estimable owners, rents no privileges of any kind to any one, earnestly bespeaks the assistance of the municipal authorities to stamp out blacklegs, adventures and all such disreputable characters as great crowds attract. Furthermore no peddling is permitted under its tents, and visitors are not importuned or annoyed in any way. This, indeed, is a commendable innovation, and is completed by the establishment of one grand central refreshment stand, where people can buy what they want at fair prices, and will receive polite and honest attention. The outfit of this colossal exhibition, is in keeping with its proportions and possessions, and superbly rich in every appointment. The morning street parade will be a free show, well worth making a trip to see, and introduces masedonic and gorgeous sensations, not soon to be forgotten.

Everywhere with the press, the Sells Bros. have indisputably established the reputation of doing all they advertise. This being conceded and deserved, who can stay away when their world's caravan of marvels comes?

NOT TO BE IGNORED.

A Republican Newspaper Calls Upon Garfield to Explain His Credit Mobilier Transaction.
(Philadelphia Press, Standard Republican.)

Gen. Garfield will make a grave mistake if he shall affect to ignore the serious charges which meet him at the very outset of his campaign for the presidency. They are not the whisperings of anonymous slanders, nor the park growth of partisan calumny which may spring up in a night at the feet of the purest man in public life as soon as he receives the nomination for the presidency. Every presidential candidate from Washington down has had to trample upon that sort of thing, and not one of them was the worse in the end. But now for the first time in the history of this country does a great party present as its candidate one whose personal and official integrity has been impeached by the result of a congressional investigation. If Gen. Garfield's friends suppose that a candidacy so belauded will receive the approval or toleration of the American people when the facts are understood, they are sadly mistaken, and, in the spirit of kindness, he and they should be undecieved at once.

* Gen. Garfield's nomination was not premeditated, for premeditation would have been fatal to it. It was born of a crisis in the convention. There was no time to think, and probably not one of the 399 delegates who, in the flurry of the moment, cast their votes for him as the only way of escape from the third term, recollected that this was the Garfield who was involved in the credit-mobilier scandal. If they had so recollected they would have rejected the Garfield movement as a suggestion of suicide. The sober second thought has since stolen over their minds, and is possessing the country. Gen. Garfield can not come forward too soon with his explanation. If there are extenuating circumstances, let us know what they are. If he was more fool than Quave, as some of his friends say, and has since found wisdom, let him throw himself upon the charity of the country. If the congressional committee got the whole thing down wrong in their report, let him say so. What is wanted is his statement of the facts. It will not do for him to say, with his friend, Gov. Foster, that "those charges are settled," for the only settlement that has been made left him in a very bad plight. The republican party cannot afford to carry the campaign under the cloud that is now hanging over its candidate for the presidency.

A Veteran Seaman's Trouble.
Evansville, Ill., Feb. 14, 1880.

Editor INTER OCEAN, Chicago, Ill.

I send you this, feeling that the information conveyed will be of material benefit to many of your readers. One of our oldest citizens, Captain O. W. Boynton, the government light-house keeper at this point, is probably one of the oldest seamen in America, having sailed twenty-six years on our lakes, and twenty years on salt water. After this forty-six years' service his eyesight failed him, and for a long time he kept the light at Chicago, until the government built the Cross Point light here, when he was transferred. While seated in my store this morning the Captain volunteered the following statement:

"This is to certify that I have been afflicted with rheumatism for twenty years, both in my side and limbs. I am happy to say, that after using less than two bottles of the St. Jacobs Oil, I am entirely free from pain, though still limping somewhat when walking, from long force of habit."

C. W. BOYNTON.

Referring to foregoing facts, I might allude to numerous similar cases that have come under my notice, but a word to the wise is sufficient. JOHN GORRELL, Pharmacist, Evansville, Ill.

THE GENUINE DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS

gans, whether contracted by overwork, strain, excessive drink, the abuse of nature or otherwise.

It supercedes entirely the Inconveniences and troubles of taking nauseous and poisonous internal medicines.

It is worn directly where the trouble is, next to the body and immediately over the kidneys.

It is comfortable to the patient, safe, pleasant and reliable in its effects, but powerful in its action.

It can be worn at all times, in any climate,
and is equally good for

MAN, WOMAN OR CHILD.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Fort Wayne, August 14th.

Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks, Hon.
Walpole G. Colerick and Hon. John Sarnighausen, will address the people of Allen county, on Saturday afternoon, August 14th, at Fort Wayne.

People of all kinds of political faith are invited. Come out and hear the issues of the day fairly and candidly discussed.

Arcoia Ramblings.
(Correspondence of the SENTINEL.)
Arcoia, Ind., August 9th.—D. P.
Haley, of Whitley, was exhibiting his new top buggy in Arcoia yesterday.

There is to be another dance at the hall ere long.

Ed. Murphy says that he will give the boys a hop next Thursday night.

Charley Emerick, a staunch democrat of West Whitley, is to have a Hancock and English pole erected in front of his residence on Saturday evening next.

The photographer still lingereth in our midst. They say he takes pictures by moonlight.

The weather is very hot in this vicinity and it seems to furnish the "shakes" and "roasting ears" in immense quantities.

We have been informed that the Catholics of this place are highly pleased with their new pastor.

The report that there was a crazy man in town last Friday evening is without foundation.

A few of the railroad men are "kicking" about being kept out over time.

Buggy riding was the order of the day yesterday.

One of the boys told us that A. and J. Calvin are training themselves in the acrobat line.

There has been no horse stealing carried on lately.

Ourex constable went on a fishing excursion last Saturday. He has not shown up as yet.

Politics is causing no excitement here just now. The reason is that our citizens are all very sensible, and they have thrown away this harangue of arguments and set themselves to thinking. They have thought too, and the result is that they are for Hancock and English, and so is

ROUNDAABOUT.

Coosse Chat.

(Correspondence of the SENTINEL.)

Cosseites are happy over this delightful weather.

Adam Smith, of Valparaiso, passed the Sabbath here.

Mrs. M. Aker and Miss Nannie Kaufman visited friends in Waterloo last week.

Misses Hattie Clark and Kate V.
Price are attending the normal school at Columbia City.

Mr. W. McKinley is presiding ton-soriat artist in Akers' hall.

Miss Tina Yorke is convalescing.

Miss Nettie Mason and a lady friend from Columbia City, passed the Sabbath in this place, the guests of Miss Maggie Mossman, who has been attending school. Miss Nettie is quite a favorite here.

Mr. Cahill, who has been foreman of the section here for some time, has resigned his position, owing to the failure of his health. "Pat" is going west to recruit.

We missed the society column Saturday.

Prememptions of Autumn.
(Nathaniel Hawthorne.)

There is no other sound except the song of the cricket, which is but an audible stillness; for though it be very loud, and heard afar, yet the mind does not take note of it as a sound, so entirely does it mingle and lose individuality among the characteristics of coming autumn. Alas for the summer! The grass is still verdant on the hills and in the valleys, the foliage of the trees is as dense as ever, and as green; the flowers are abundant along the margin of the river, and on the hedgerows, and deep among the woods; the days, too, are as fervid as they were a month ago, and yet, in every breath of wind and in every beam of sunshine there is an autumnal influence. I know not how to describe it. Methinks there is a sort of coolness amid all the heat, and a mildness in the brightness of the sunshine. A breeze cannot stir without thrilling me with the breath of autumn, and I behold its pensive glory in the far golden gleams among the shadows of the trees. The flowers, even the brightest of them—the golden rods and gorgeous cardinals—the most glorious of the year—have their gentle sadness amid their pomp.

Pensive autumn is expressed in the glow of every one of them. I have felt this influence earlier some years than in others. Sometimes autumn may be perceived in the early days of July. There is no other feeling like that caused by this faint, doubtful, yet real perception, or rather prophecy, of this year's decay, so deliciously sweet and sad at the same time.

The Princely Managers and Their Great Railroad Menagerie and Circus.

On Friday, August 13th, Sells Brothers' Millionaire Confederation of Stupendous Railroad Shows, will exhibit in all its vast entirety, at Fort Wayne, and we have ample warrant for stating that the occasion will be the most remarkable, wonderful and enjoyable in the amusement history of this section. The electric light, the largest herd of elephants; the only pair of living hippopotami; the only drove of performing Colorado cattle; the only huge living two-horned rhinoceros, and the only arctic aquarium of twenty monster sea lions, polar elephants, amphibious leopards and Siberian seals, are distinctive features of rare interest while the general collection of wild beasts and birds is immense and unequaledly comprehensive. The circus programme presents the names of a host of eminent principal performers, with none but bareback riders in the ring, led by the great and only James Robinson, whose unchallenged superiority over all rivals is so universally conceded as to preclude further comment. An arenic feature of most thrilling novelty, is the introduction of a number of Ute chiefs and braves, who appear in an equestrian drama, illustrating the savage scenes and single combats of border warfare.

The great show is run on high points all around. It is managed in person by its popular and estimable owners, rents no privileges of any kind to any one, earnestly bespeaks the assistance of the municipal authorities to stamp out blacklegs, adventurers and all such disreputable characters as great crowds attract.
Furthermore no peddling is permitted under its tents, and visitors are not importuned or annoyed in any way.

This is, indeed, a commendable innovation, and is completed by the establishment of one grand central refreshment stand, where people can buy what they want at fair prices, and will receive polite and honest attention. The outfit of this colossal exhibition, is in keeping with its proportions and possessions, and superbly rich in every appointment. The morning street parade will be a free show, well worth making a trip to see, and introduces mastodon and gorgeous sensations, not soon to be forgotten.

Everywhere with the press, the Sells Bros. have indisputably established the reputation of doing all they advertise. This being conceded and deserved, who can stay away when their world's caravan of marvels comes?

NOT TO BE IGNORED.

A Republican Newspaper Calls
Upon Garfield to Explain
His Credit Mobilier Transaction.

(Philadelphia Press, St. Louis Republican.)

Gen. Garfield will make a grave mistake if he shall affect to ignore the serious charges which meet him at the very outset of his campaign for the presidency. They are not the whisperings of anonymous slanderers, nor the rank growth of partisan calumny which may spring up in a night at the feet of the purest man in public life as soon as he receives the nomination for the presidency. Every presidential candidate from Washington down has had to trample upon that sort of thing, and not one of them was the worse in the end. But now for the first time in the history of this country does a great party present as its candidate one whose personal and official integrity has been impeached by the result of a congressional investigation. If Gen.
Garfield's friends suppose that a candidacy so beclouded will receive the approval or toleration of the American people when the facts are understood, they are sadly mistaken, and, in the spirit of kindness, he and they should be undeceived at once.

* Gen. Garfield's nomination was not premeditated, for premeditation would have been fatal to it. It was born of a crisis in the convention.
There was no time to think, and probably not one of the 399 delegates who,
in the flurry of the moment, cast their votes for him as the only way of escape from the third term, recollected that this was the Garfield who was involved in the credit-mobilier scandal.

If they had so recollected they would have rejected the Garfield movement as a suggestion of suicide. The sober second thought has since stolen over their minds and is possessing the country. Gen. Garfield can not come forward too soon with his explanation.

If there are extenuating circumstances, let us know what they are. If he was more fool than knave, as some of his friends say, and has since found wisdom, let him throw himself upon the charity of the country. If the congressional committee got the whole thing down wrong in their report, let him say so. What is wanted is his statement of the facts. It will not do for him to say, with his friend, Gov.
Foster, that "those charges are settled," for the only settlement that has been made left him in a very bad plight. The republican party cannot afford to carry the campaign under the cloud that is now hanging over its candidate for the presidency.

A Veteran Seaman's Trouble.
Evanville, Ill., Feb. 14, 1880.

Editor INTER OCEAN, Chicago, Ill.: I send you this, feeling that the information conveyed will be of material benefit to many of your readers.

One of our oldest citizens, Captain O.
W. Boynton, the government light-house keeper at this point, is probably one of the oldest seamen in America, having sailed twenty-six years on our lakes, and twenty years on salt water.

After this forty-six years' service his eyesight failed him, and for a long time he kept the light at Chicago, until the government built the Gross Point light here, when he was transferred. While seated in my store this morning the Captain volunteered the following statement:

"This is to certify that I have been afflicted with rheumatism for twenty years, both in my side and limbs. I am happy to say, that after using less than two bottles of the St. Jacobs Oil, I am entirely free from pain, though still limping somewhat from walking, from long force of habit."

C. W. BOYNTON.

Referring to foregoing facts, I might allude to numerous similar cases that have come under my notice, but a word to the wise is sufficient. JOHN GORBEL,

To the Editor of the SENTINEL: As announced in a previous card a new force of waiters has been placed in my dining room and my customers may rest assured that they will be treated with respect and despatch. A German Speaks.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL: The great opening of the campaign by the republicans through that great German speaker, Dr. Makh, of New Jersey, took place last night in the circuit court room. His striking points were first, that the Almighty is in favor of Garfield, but as he cannot do his work alone he must have help, especially from Indians, at the next October election, and the Germans must help. Second, that under the republican administration we shipped to the old country millions of bushels of wheat, oats, barley, corn, rye, beans, etc., and if Garfield should not be elected we could not expect such a blessing hereafter.

Third, that while I am strongest (says the speaker) I would be a fool if I would give up to the weaker one, and so with the few votes needed to the 138 solid. It could not be expected any otherwise than that the south would rule. He said that Hancock is a perfect gentleman, a scholar, good general and as honest as the day is long, but a statesman; that Garfield is a statesman and that it is hardly possible that he would commence to steal on $329 of Credit Mobilier when he could, as member and chairman of so many important committees, steal millions and that there are no other charges made against him. The speaker left Arthur alone. Described and told how the southern states are readjusting their debts which the carpet-baggers heaped on them and for which not a dollar's worth of improvements or anything else can be shown.

But, he says, the holders of such bonds (meaning the carpetbaggers who mostly took refuge in New York City) would be the losers and (said the speaker) see South Carolina won't pay a damned cent—after telling his hearers that they must vote against Landers because he is for equal valued money and against premium on gold by which the eastern goldites would lose a great deal and a few remarks concerning the quality of men nominated on the Allen county republican ticket he thanked the limited audience and quit, to the great relief of the few present.

Pursuant to a call, a meeting of the fifth ward democrats was held on Saturday evening, in Andersons' hall, on Broadway, and was very largely attended by the democrats of said ward. The meeting was called to order by M. V. B. Spencer, after which a committee on permanent organization, was appointed and the following officers were chosen: President, Jno. H. Linderman; vice-presidents, Jos. Fry and Jno. Reidmiller; secretary, Chas. E. Jones; treasurer, M. F. Schmeltzer. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Ellison, who made a very good speech. He was followed by Mr. McCarthy, a laboring man, who also made a good speech, and next came Judge Borden, who made a few remarks. The judge was followed by M. V. B. Spencer. The meeting then adjourned until Wednesday evening, at which time arrangements will be made for a big turn out on Saturday evening. There will be one hundred torches in readiness at Remmel's building, and it is to be hoped every democrat in the 5th ward will turn out.

Nothing proves this better than our experience during the past two years.

During the summer of 1878 we decided to commence the fall business by reducing our profits an extra five per cent. The effect upon our business was almost instantaneous.

In the spring of 1879 we resolved to introduce the Department System into Fort Wayne. As in the future part of our business expenses would be paid from new lines of business, we concluded we could afford to sell

Dry Goods!

AND

CARPETS

At 5 per cent. still less profits than we had charged during the previous six months.

We accordingly made another reduction in prices, and in this instance, too, its effect upon our business was wonderful.

The small profit, one-price system, peculiar to department stores, has so increased our business that we shall sell Dry Goods, Carpets, Furniture, Crockery, Tinware, and goods from all our other departments lower this fall than ever before.

We ask the patronage of every citizen of Fort Wayne, not on the ground that they ought to buy their goods at home, but because they cannot go even to the largest cities and do as well.
